Black Geographies & Memorialization in the Landscape

Spring 2022

Geog 4453 D,H /5453
Afam 4453 D,H
Amst 4453 D,H

Dr. Rebecca Sheehan
Tuesdays 6:45-9:30 p.m.
CLB 106A

Part of the National Memorial for Peace and Justice landscape. Photo by Rebecca Sheehan

This course is organized around memory in the landscape as it relates to Black geographies then and now, including Slavery, the Civil War, Civil Rights, the Tulsa Race Massacre, and Black Lives Matter in the United States. As scholars show, memorializations in the landscape shape cultural, economic, and political relations in the present. As such memorializations continue to act upon the social world – an ongoing agency of the cultural landscape.

Undergraduates and Graduate students welcome!